

DISCOVER OUR STORIES

Make your way along The Brickline: An Urban Historic Discovery. Start on the southeast corner of the Meeting Haus and walk east down Beck to understand more about our German cultural influences, the early preservation movement, and the community that continues to celebrate and gather here on our bricks.

✕ There are 12 signs in all where X marks the spot above.

 You are HERE at the Meeting Haus.

Along the way, and throughout the neighborhood, look for these house plaques that tell the story of each property on which they're mounted. Some are on porches, some on fences, some will surprise you!

The Brickline is our interpretive trail, envisioned and funded in large part by Darci Congrove and John Pribble of German Village Guest House through their Tea 43206 event, and with support from:
